

Longwood Mansion

Longwood had 18 rooms, 3-1/2 (indoor) bathrooms, a magnificent turret, an orange tiled roof, and beautiful parquet floors throughout. The Coopers entertained lavishly, hosting garden parties, dances, and Easter egg hunts.

Now it's your turn to design a castle! What would you put in—a bowling alley? A movie theater? Rooftop dining? Be creative and have fun!

Thomas and Mary Cooper, and their daughter, Elizabeth, who was married in the home in 1917. Thomas made his fortune in coal mining, and was the president of a bank in Salem. In addition to this spectacular home, he was also the first in Salem to own an automobile!
